MDADVANTAGE ANNOUNCES 2017 RECIPIENTS OF PRESTIGIOUS EXCELLENCE IN MEDICINE AWARDS

Chantal Brazeau, MD, and Rutgers New Jersey Medical School Student Family
Health Care Center, Among Honorees

Lawrenceville, NJ, March 7, 2017 – MDAdvantage Insurance Company, a leading provider of medical professional liability insurance, today announced the 2017 Edward J. Ill Excellence in Medicine award recipients.

The Excellence in Medicine Awards are named after Edward J. Ill, MD, a New Jersey physician who was a pioneer in promoting continuing education in ways that set the national standard. This annual event that dates back to 1939 has been sponsored by MDAdvantage Insurance Company since 2003.

Patricia A. Costante, Chairman and CEO of MDAdvantage, stated, “MDAdvantage is proud to again sponsor the Edward J. Ill Excellence in Medicine Awards®. Being able to recognize all the progress that has been made in healthcare since the awards were first bestowed in 1939 is an honor and a privilege for all of us involved. My hope is that by highlighting these advances, we are able to inspire the healthcare providers and leaders of tomorrow.”

Among those being honored this year is Chantal Brazeau, MD, who will receive the Verice M. Mason Community Service Leader Award on behalf of the Rutgers New Jersey Medical School Student Family Health Care Center. The award is presented to an individual who has personified, led and provided the vision for an organization, and to the organization served, for extraordinary commitment to improving the health and welfare of the citizens of New Jersey. Dr. Brazeau is Professor and Interim Chair of Family Medicine and Assistant Dean for Faculty Vitality at Rutgers New Jersey Medical School.

Verice M. Mason Community Service Leader Award

Chantal Brazeau, MD, is Professor of Family Medicine and Psychiatry at Rutgers New Jersey Medical School and maintains board certification in both specialties. Dr. Brazeau has been a faculty member at Rutgers NJMS since 1995, Director of Medical Student Education in the Department of Family Medicine since 2001 and Interim Chair of the Department since 2012. She has been actively engaged in medical student education and curriculum development while leading several federal grants related to training medical students in primary care medicine and in treating underserved patient populations. The grants include a five-year-long Health Resources and Services Administration grant in 2011 to expand the community services and clinical care provided by the NJMS student-run free clinic—the Student Family Health Care Center. Through this grant, students carry out innovative models of primary healthcare delivery and reflect on the needs of underserved patients. Dr. Brazeau has also taught students about professional self-care, the doctor–patient relationship, mental health in primary care, as well as ethics, humanism and professionalism. Her clinical practice is embedded within the Department of Family Medicine’s faculty practice, where she addresses mental health problems in primary care. She has a special interest in medical student and physician well-being.
